Support the psychological health of your caregivers

Nearly 400,000 people work in the healthcare sector across Switzerland, representing about 8% of the working population. Healthcare workers are the main pillars of the Swiss healthcare system, which is one of the best in the world in terms of access and quality.

Working in the healthcare sector is physically and mentally demanding. The heavy workload of shift work and overtime, the great responsibility, the increasing bureaucracy, and the constant pressure to be efficient and competitive mean that less and less time is left for the actual care of patients. As a result, almost half of the workforce in the healthcare sector is leaving the profession.

Healthcare workers are particularly susceptible to psychological stress. This can lead to symptoms such as sleep disturbance, chronic fatigue, anxiety and burnout. These professionals also have higher rates of substance misuse.

With this in mind, it is hardly surprising that the healthcare professions are said to have above-average rates of staff turnover and sickness absence. The Lyra SANACTIVE employee assistance program is the most effective and comprehensive solution for reducing stress-related health risks and loss of performance, or for quickly restoring performance and health.

It offers immediate, free, anonymous and easily accessible professional support that enables employees to reduce stress independently and at an early stage and to strengthen their own resilience.

Lyra SANACTIVE – Your added value at a glance

Protecting care professions

The Swiss healthcare system is increasingly reliant on healthcare workers staying in their traditional care professions, while remaining healthy and efficient. We support your team in this endeavor.

Stopping performance losses early on

As mental health professionals, we focus on early prevention and encourage everyone to take personal responsibility. Early support reduces absenteeism and the likelihood of errors at the workplace as well as the associated additional workload for colleagues.

Anonymous and low-threshold, 24/7

Easy and anonymous access to the SANACTIVE support program around the clock by phone, live chat and app enables your employees to get help early and independently, as they are usually the first to notice stress in themselves.

Quality first

Our consultants are all qualified psychologists and psychotherapists. They are available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for your employees and anyone in the same household.

Personal account manager

An experienced account manager is at your disposal for all administrative matters and questions. They will work with you to plan and organize the implementation of SANACTIVE in your company. They will provide you with a detailed and informative report on a regular basis. They will also assist you in planning workshops and presentations.

Data protection guaranteed

We meet all requirements of the EU GDPR, and our consultants are all subject to professional secrecy. We have quality management system certifications according to ISO 9001 and the internationally recognized data protection label Good Priv@cy® according to GDPR. This allows us to guarantee the legal compliance of SANACTIVE.

HR support

SANACTIVE relieves and supports superiors and HR managers.

Proven effectiveness

Our before/after surveys show that the performance of the employees sustainably improved with the SANACTIVE support program.
